YOU HAVE BROUGHT HOPE

You're the best! Your giving makes great things happen. Thank you! Here's a story about just one thing we were able to do because of you.

Becca will tell you leaving a life of prostitution is not easy. But she also knows that things would have been a lot worse if she had not met Restoration 1:99. In 2007, at the age of 16, Becca was trafficked from New York to the Washington, DC metro area. During a sting operation, she was rescued and her trafficker arrested. She was sent to youth detention. It was there that she first encountered R1:99. Over relationship with Becca and were able to share the services and support your gifts make possible. R1:99 advocated for her proper placement in a group home where she received the care she needed. She did well there, earned her GED, started attending classes at the community college, and even worked a part-time job. When she aged out of the program, she moved back to New York to be near her family. Unfortunately it was not a safe situation, and before she

R1:99 a text message asking for help, and your financial support provided her with a bus ticket back to the security of Washington. R1:99 was able to get her set up in a program for homeless women where she felt safe enough to search for employment and begin attending therapy. The road to recovery has not been easy for Becca. She still has relapses. But she knows that you and R1:99 will always be there for her. She has

YOU CAN HELP THOSE STRUGGLING WITH SEXUAL ADDICTION

Have you ever wondered how prevalent sexual addiction is among Christians? Or perhaps you are curious to know how the church treats people who are addicted to sex? Are the church's methods compatible or at odds with clinical counseling? What can you do as a helper for either a loved one or a friend who you may believe is struggling with sexual issues such as addiction? And when does a habit become an addiction?

Jim Alexander, LCSW, will be answering those questions and more at our fall trauma-informed care workshop on Saturday, October 15 at Capitol Baptist Church in Annandale, Virginia. Jim is a graduate of Wheaton College and Indiana University. He has been a social worker for almost 40 years. His specialty is the
